

Best Free Apps

for iPad and iPhone

Recommended by members of
The Villages Apple User Group
Tony Crawford
May 2015

Introduction

As of October 2014, it was estimated there were over 1.3 million apps in the App Store, and that these apps had been downloaded over 85 billion times.

With so many apps to choose from, how can we know which are the best? The Villages Apple User Group to the rescue!

With inputs and recommendations of our Villages Apple User Group, now over 1100 strong, I have compiled this Compendium of Best Apps and since there are so many great free apps, I have limited the selection to include only those that are free.

Please note, however, that some of these apps offer In-App purchases (for upgrades, ad free versions, etc.), so please ensure you set your Restrictions (Settings/General/Restrictions/Enable Restriction/In-App Purchases off) to prevent these any purchases inadvertently being made without your Apple password as verification, to avoid any issues in this area.

Also I recommend caution with using your Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, etc. accounts to sign up and login. This may sound convenient, but it also gives vendors access to your Contacts and other information in the accounts, and you now have little control over how they may use that information. It is much safer for you to use a new (and different) ID/Password to register, or your email as ID if that is required.

This Compendium is an update to the one issued in May 2014 and will continue to be a work in progress, as apps will continue to rise (and fall), so I will update it periodically, as sufficient new recommendations are received.

For your ease of reference, each app in the Index is linked to the appropriate page, and each app page also includes a link back to the Index.

I welcome your feedback and further inputs. Thank you for your contributions!

- ♦ Requires iOS 6.0 or later

Read eBooks and listen to audiobooks from your library using OverDrive Media Console on iPad, iPhone, and iPod touch.

More than 22,000 libraries worldwide offer titles via OverDrive, so download the app and add your library today.

Link to App Store

- Available 24/7, your library never closes.
- No more late fees. Titles are automatically returned.
- Place holds, create wish lists, and return titles easily.
- A valid account with a participating library, school, or other institution is required.
- Each library builds its own collection of titles. Contact them directly to let them know that you're using OMC and to share any suggestions for books you would like to see them carry.
- New look. Simplified menus put everything a swipe and a tap away.

CF: I read a lot, but don't buy books. My local library lets me borrow up to 50 e-books at a time and read them on any device using Overdrive (available from the App Store). Adobe gets into the picture as part of the download process, but it's pretty easy overall. I mostly read on my iPad but keep one book on the iPhone as well for unexpected wait time.

Evernote is an easy-to-use, free app that helps you remember everything across all of the devices you use.

Stay organized, save your ideas and improve productivity.

Evernote lets you take notes, capture photos, create to-do lists, record voice reminders--and makes these notes completely searchable, whether you are at home, at work, or on the go.

I use Evernote to keep notes within reach wherever I am. Some examples include lists of the family printers (so I know what toner cartridge to buy), gift-idea lists for family members, line-dance sessions in The Villages, current coupons for Bealls/Sweet Tomatoes/Michaels, etc., car data such as wiper size, maintenance log for car and other things I own, network keys for places I visit, et al. I have more than 250 notes!

The notes sync on all my computers and devices. The free version has less functionality than the $45/year version, but it's pretty darn good!

While similar in function to Apple's own Notes, I find Evernote preferable because

- *I can keep the list in the order I prefer (i.e., alphabetical) while Notes allows only latest on top.
- *Multiple notebooks can be used to keep things organized.
- *Formatting is possible within each note.
- *Attachments move with the note (to see an attachment in Apple's Notes, you have to be using the same computer where the attachment resides).

- ◆ In App Purchases

Link to App Store

Index

MyRadar is a fast, easy-to-use, weather application that displays animated weather radar around your current location, allowing you to quickly see what weather is coming your way. Just start the app, and your location pops up with animated weather, allowing you to easily see if rain is headed your way. Our high-res animated radar helps you see weather details even at the closest level!

Thanks to everyone for making MyRadar so successful, with over 8 million downloads!

What's great about MyRadar is that the map is easily zoomed and scrolled around with the flick of a finger, allowing you to quickly check the weather in other parts of the country, including Hawaii & Puerto Rico!

On top of the basic weather, users can get a quick glance of temperatures around the country, as well as overlay a current satellite image of cloud cover. For you aviation buffs, there's a layer that provides Airmets & Sigmet, and even the ability to overlay the flight plan of a particular aircraft onto the map. You can also share interesting weather photos from your area, and see photos other users have contributed neatly displayed on the map.

Additional options include weather warnings and alerts, complete with push notifications, to warn you of severe weather in your area. Great for the start of thunderstorm and tornado season! There's also an optional hurricane tracker, providing excellent details and projections for the path of storms as the season looms near.

MyRadar currently only shows weather in the United States, and only in the 48 contiguous states – not Alaska, Hawaii or Puerto Rico.
